GAME LAWS NOW POPULAR.

About the Methodist Church-A Singular and Painful Accident-Marriages-Personals and Briefs.

ONANCOCK. VA., November 23.-(Special.)-During the past week the weather has been clear, cool, and brac ing, just such weather as sportsmen like see at this season of the year, and hundreds of them have been out h the field in hot pursuit of "Bob White." Some have had good luck, but others have returned home with empty bags and a good digestion. The impression prevails among the huntsmen ere that the present game-law is operating well, and that with mild or mode winters partridges will soon be plentiful again in this part of the State. The opposition to the law, once fierce and widespread, has almost entirely dis-

CONFERENCE CHANGES. As intimated in this correspondence one week ago nearly all the Southern Methodist churches of the Eastern Shore District will have new pastors for another year. Of the twenty pastors in this district, only about five were not changed. Among those who were not changed is the Rev. Dr. George E. Booker, who will remain in Onancock another year, to the great gratification of his congregation and members of other denominations.

Church. The Northern Methodists held

Church. The Northern Methodists held this territory till just before the breaking out of the war, when the most of the churches in Accomac, and all in Northampton, withdrew from the Philadelphia Conference, and cast in their lot with the Southern Church. Since the war the Northern Methodists have made strong efforts to recover their lost ground with varying success. They have about ten churches in Accomac, and one (at Cape Charles) in Northampton. Captain Hall, of the revenue-cutter Crawford, has reported to Collector Nock, of the port of Onancock, the following boats, for violating the marine regulations: Schooners George F. Wright, Mamie. Thomas B. Hambleton, Flying Cloud, Nelly Bly, and Ellen Mailida, and sloops Susan and Turlight. Fines have been imposed on these boats, ranging from $10 to $550.

Commander Ritter, of the United States Revenue Marine Service, and Mr. R. C. Ould special agent of the United States Treasury Department, have been in Accomac this week on a tour of inspection to the light-houses and custom offices in this district, and report everything to be in good shape.

A SINGULAR ACCIDENT.

A SINGULAR ACCIDENT.

Mr. Charles L. Bunting, living near Bloxom Station, in this county, was cutting down a tree several days ago, when the tree fell and knocked from another tree a large limb, which struck Mr. Bunting in the face and knocked him to the ground, where he lay for more than an hour in an unconscious condition. No one was near to give him assistance, and after he recovered consciousness he had much difficulty in reaching his home, which was a considerable distance from the place where he met with the accident. Besides other injuries, his face was horribly bruised, and every bone in his nose broken.

Smith, J. M. Johnson, L. S. and S. P. Ward.

At present Onencock and Cape Charles are the only incorporated towns on the Eastern Shore of Virginia but it is likely that other growing towns on the Peningula, seeing the advantages of being incorporated, will follow the example of Belle Haven. MARRIAGES.

Beile Haven.

MARRIAGES.

Mr. John W. Colona, the railroad agent at Tealey, and Miss Rachel Blackstone, daughter of Mr. Thomas W. Blackstone, were married last Wednesday at the residence of the bride's father, in Pungoteaque. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Benry L. Derby, rector of the Episcopal churches in St. George's parish. Owing to the continued illness of the bride's father, who was some weeks ago stricken down with paralysis, the marriage was a very quiet one.

On the following day, Mr. M. L. Davis and Miss India Floyd, both of Beile Haven, were quietly married at the manse in that village, Rev. R. E. C. Lawson, of the Presbyterian church, performing the ceremony.

Many persons from this section have disted the Atlanta Exposition, and the ry is, "Still they go."

Mr. David Conover, living near Maonville, Northampton county, was cut ding wood several days ago, when he fell and broke three ribs.

Mr. Edward E. Miles, postmaster at Omancock, is seriously ill with typhoid-malarial-fever, at his home, in this town.

The corner-stone of the Methodist Protestant church, at Greenbackville, in the northeastern part of Accomac, will be laid by the Freemasons of the Eastern Shore of Virginia on Thanksgiving-Day. The Rev. Dr. Kinser, president of the Maryland Conference, is expected to deliver an address on the occasion.

Miss Christina Walston, of Northampton, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Onancock, has returned home.

Colonel John Bell Bigger.

(South Boston Times.)

As yet we have heard no talk of any opposition to that splendid gentleman and matchless clerk of the House of Delegates, Colonel J. Bell Pigger. Colonel Bigger has no equal in all the country. He is thoroughly familiar with all the details. Everybody knows him and everybody loves him.

CURRENT-EVENTS CLUB.

The Current-Events Club was entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. John H. Fulton at its semi-monthly gathering. This club, which is for ladies only, aims to combine a literary feature with the ocial by selecting subjects which are f general interest for the regular programme, and giving up the last hour of he meeting to serving light refreshments, and to general conversation.

The young ladies have reorganized their Whist Club for the winter. The first meeting was called by Miss Julia Fendieton last week, and on Friday evening of this week Miss Sue Spiller entertained the club most delightfully. A number of guests were invited to share Miss Spiller's gracious hospitality, and the evening was a very enjoyable one.

Several applicants from Wytheville for membership in the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution have been notified of their enrolment as members, and a chapter will be organized there, with Mrs. E. B. Stuart as local regent.

The Thursday Club reorganized this week at the residence of Colonel Withers. There is a good deal of sickness in the town, a mild form of grip being prevalent.

M. M. Caldwell has been confined to his room by sickness for part of the
